Heart Felt

Feisty and soft, these little planters are 100% wool, fairly made and look really good. A trifecta of cuteness.

Grounds Garden

A new flagship café for NASA-standard coffee roasters, "The Grounds", and its garden in Sydney's Alexandria, was once the Four'N Twenty pie factory. It was designed to test and research its particular brand of coffee, and its owners Ramzey Choker and Jack Hanna invited Ramzey's sister, interior designer Caroline Choker, to fit out the place with its heritage in mind, keeping an industrial but rustic aesthetic. The café spills out onto a large organic garden looked after by horticulturalist Erin Martin. With large beds of heirloom fruit and vegetables, herbs, edible flowers and even chickens, Martin brings a passion for permaculture, organics and sustainable practices not only into the kitchen and onto the menu, but also out to the local community. There are plans for classes for kids and they are a part of the City of Sydney's Seed to Plate program, teaching punters how to maintain a worm farm and grow their own food.
